Claim 1 (with markings to show changes)

1.(Currently Amended) An irrigation controller comprising:
a memory that stores a regression model [[;]] , wherein the regression model is based upon a set of historical ETo values and a set of corresponding historical values for an environmental factor, the regression model running with optional input from a local sensor;
a microprocessor that applies a current value for ~~an~~ the environmental factor to the regression model to calculate a current evapotranspiration rate (estimated ETo), ~~the regression model running with optional input from a local sensor; with~~ wherein the irrigation controller using uses the estimated ETo to determine an irrigation schedule executed by the irrigation controller . ~~;~~ and wherein the regression model is based upon a set of historical ETo values and a set of corresponding historical values for an environmental factor.

Reasons For Allowance

3. Claims 1 and 3-15 are allowed renumbered 1 and 2-14 respectively.
4. The following is a statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicant's claimed invention is deemed allowable over the prior art of record as the prior art fails to teach an irrigation controller comprising: a memory that stores a regression model and a microprocessor that applies a current value for an environmental factor to the regression model to calculate an evapotranspiration rate to determine an irrigation schedule executed by the irrigation controller.

Citation of Related Application

The following publication is cited to show related applications with respect to modifying irrigation schedules of existing irrigation controllers:

- a. U.S. Pub. No. 2003/0109964 to Addink et al., which discloses irrigation controller using regression model.
